COMMON SENSE APPLIED TO FARMING

A Merchant Makes Big Success When Others Failed.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
MORRISVILLE, VA., July 22.—That circumstances do not necessarily make the man, and that man can often create and profit by the circumstances has been repeatedly proven. Mr. S. W. Edwards, of this place, is a striking illustration of this fact. Mr. Edwards has been actively engaged in the mercantile business since he was thirteen years of age, save a few years while keeping hotel and four years in the employ of a large stone company as a salesman, with no knowledge of farming whatever until he took it up on a small scale about five years ago in connection with his regular business of merchandising. Gradually increasing his operations until this year he is farming eight farms and more successfully than the owners could do themselves. He does not pick out the most fertile farms as a scene of operations, but rents the land of those discouraged or dissatisfied farmers who hope to better themselves in some other vocation and are quite willing to grant to some one else for a consideration the privilege of cultivating the soil, they have apparently exhausted of its fertility.
 Last year he rented a farm that had not had a pint of grass seed sown upon it in twenty years, where success and profits had increased in vigor and numbers as the soil decreased in strength and productivity until practical farmers questioned its ability to sprout cowpeas. Mr. Edwards planted it in corn and raised a corn crop the equal of which on the same piece of land cannot be recalled by the oldest citizens.

 Corn, oats, cowpeas, wheat and potatoes are grown, horses, cattle and sheep, are bought and pastured, and chickens and hogs are raised by Mr. Edwards.

Mr. Edwards is a contradiction to the generally accepted idea that a thorough preparatory training is necessary for a success in any business. His knowledge of farming, has been gained almost entirely by talking with practical farmers and studying their methods. He has never been a subscriber to any purely agricultural publication and rarely reads one. He has always regularly read the daily and Sunday papers, a religious paper, enjoys a good book when he has the leisure to read in and believes The Times-Dispatch is the best paper published for Virginians of all classes.

Mr. Edwards was born in Goldsboro, N. C., and has been a resident of Morrisville a little over six years, during which time he has built up one of the most prosperous general merchandise stores between Warrenton and Fredericksburg. Besides his farming and regular wholesale and retail merchandising operations, he regularly butchers, buys timber, has a sawed and marketed, handles wool, and is an enormous quantities in season. He is an active church member, ever ready to take hold of any public spirited enterprise, and unusually generous to the poor. But above all else, Mr. S. H. Edwards stands forth as a man of long established mercantile habits, a keen hold of a business of which he knows absolutely nothing, and making a greater success of it than the majority of those who had made it a life long study.

KING GEORGE NEWS.

Wheat Being Ruined and Corn Unworked Because of Rain.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
COMORIN, VA., July 22.—As a result of the frequent heavy rains for more than a month past, a good deal of the wheat is said to be in bad condition. There have been but few days since harvest when the conditions of the wheat and the weather would admit of thrashing, and meanwhile much of the wheat in shocks and stacks in the fields has gone through a "heat" and sprouted.
 There are some fields of six feet tall corn in this section that have not had cultivation of any kind since the soil was prepared for planting in the spring, while there are others which have been only "sided" and thinned. This is because the ground has been entirely too wet ever since the corn was planted to admit of plowing or other work.
 Three carpenters are rushing the work of erecting a handsome Baptist parsonage at Shiloh, this county.

Judge John E. Mason, of this place, whose illness has been mentioned in this correspondence, is sufficiently improved to be able to ride out.
 Lieutenant-Governor Willard has presented the "Joe Willard Invincibles" baseball club, of King George Courthouse, with four base-balls and four bats.

Mrs. J. H. Sorrell and Mrs. Annie E. Grigsby and daughters, of Washington, have arrived to spend two months at their summer home here.

Mrs. James Dildake, of Middlesex, is visiting relatives near this place.
 Mrs. Owen Peed and son, Master Maurice Peed, of Washington, are guests of Mrs. Peed's parents here.

Captain Jim Adams, a well known Potomac fisherman, is catching some fine sturgeons, for which he is realizing good prices—$30 to $40, according to size, for each fish and its roe.

Miss Sadie Gibson, of Wallbrook, Md., is a guest of the Misses Taylor at "Powhatan," in this neighborhood.
 Mr. Tu Wee Sang, of the Chinese legation, was at the clerk's office of this county several days ago.

Miss Rosalie Thornton, of Louderdale, this county, has gone to Virginia Beach to spend some time.

Mr. C. Calvin Stuart, who has been on a visit to his mother at Cedar Grove, this county, has returned to Philadelphia.

Mrs. Oscar M. Styrion and children, of Washington, have arrived here to spend the summer.

Mrs. Martin Sorrell and two sons came down from the national capital city several days ago to spend the heated term here.

Miss Lucy Bell Mason, of Rockville, Md., is visiting her father, E. W. Mason, Esq., at "Cleveland," near here.

Miss Norma Henderson, who has been spending some weeks in the District of Columbia, returned to her home at Cuth Corner, near here, yesterday. She was accompanied home by her sister, Mrs. Clarence Taylor, of Washington, who will spend a month at her parental home.

Mr. Mason Smith, of Fredericksburg, and Mr. Stuart Robertson, of Stanton, are guests at "Shelburne," the summer home of Judge J. E. Mason, a mile from this village.

Dr. A. B. Hone, a prominent medical practitioner of Washington, has been visiting his sisters here and friends at Colonial Beach for some days past.

Carpenters are putting a new roof and other repairs on St. Stephen's Church, half a mile from this place.

Dr. Fielding Ashton, a native of this county and a medical practitioner of Richmond since his graduation there more than a year ago, is assisting Dr. P. F. Smith in his large practice in Colonial Beach and vicinity.

IT MAY PROVE MURDER.

Brutal Negro Knocked Woman Down and Kicked Her.

Charged with assault and battery by a negro named Mary Warren, Joss S. Williams, alias "Big Foot," was arraigned before "Squire Angle" in Henric county yesterday morning. The woman's condition did not permit her to attend the trial, and a member of the family of King College at Bristol, Va., Mr. and Mrs. James S. Smith are at Ronceverte, W. Va., where they are visiting their sons, Messrs. Hieskoll and Howard Smith. Miss Mary L. Smith, their daughter, joined a friend in Washington for a trip to Niagara Falls.

CALLICLES' SONG.

No. 554.
 By MATTHEW ARNOLD.

This song is from the longer meditative poem—Empedocles on Etna. Etna is the great volcano on the island of Sicily. Arnold's portrait, autograph and biographical sketch have already appeared in this series.

THROUGH the black, rushing smoke-bursts,
 Thick breaks the red flame.
 All Etna heaves fiercely
 Her forest-clothed frame.

Not here, O Apollo!
 Are haunts meet for thee.
 But, where Helicon breaks down
 In cliff to the sea.

Where the moon-silver'd inlets
 Send far their light voice
 Up the still vale of Thisbe,
 O speed, and rejoice!

On the sward, at the cliff-top,
 Lie strewn the white flocks;
 On the cliff-side the pigeons
 Roost deep in the rocks.

In the moonlight the shepherds
 Soft lul'd by the rills,
 Lie wrapt in their blankets,
 Asleep on the hills.

—What Forms are these coming
 So white through the gloom?
 What garments out-glistening
 The gold-flow'd broom?

What sweet-breathing Presence
 Out-perfumes the thyme?
 What voices enrapture
 The night's balmy prime?—

'Tis Apollo comes leading
 His choir, the Nine,
 —The leader is fairest,
 But all are divine.

They are lost in the hollows!
 They stream up again!
 What seeks on this mountain
 The glorified train?—

They bathe on this mountain,
 In the spring by their road;
 Then on to Olympus,
 Their endless abode.

—Whose praise do they mention
 Of what is it told?
 What will be for ever;
 What was from of old.

First hymn they thy Father
 Of all things; and then,
 The rest of Immortals,
 The action of men.

The Day in its hotness,
 The strife with the palm;
 The Night in its silence,
 The Stars in their calm.
